The Executive Event on Retail Loss Prevention

The new way to connect with your colleagues in Retail Loss Prevention

The Secure Stores Forum is for you if you're a leader

- VP/Director of Loss Prevention
- VP/Director of Asset Protection
- VP/Director of Security
- National Manager of LP or AP

It's not a conference or a trade show. It's all new.

Our field has no other meeting just like this. Two days of productive learning in a casual resort setting. No hectic show floor or stale conference talks. Just people like us.

The best minds in retail protection, including yours.

This is an intimate assembly of just 50 leaders in retail loss prevention. You'll roll up your sleeves for frank, candid conversations where everyone in the room is focused on protecting people, property & places for stores like yours.

Relaxed, intimate, productive time with your peers.

In small groups, at meals and special events, you'll always be part of the dialogue; learning, sharing, discovering new solutions that your peers are using in their stores now.

Compare the newest solutions and tools you need.

LP needs partners, so we invite solutions providers to help you compare the latest options in video and analytics, locks and security hardware, cash handling, exception reporting, alarm systems & monitoring and more.

"I was blown away by The Secure Stores Forum!"
